This description of the New Linebrook Cemetery and the comprehensive listing of graves is provided by Bruce Laing copyright 2006, All rights reserved.

This cemetery is about 100’ wide by 275’ deep. There is an antique house just to the east, and a modern house just to the west. Behind the cemetery to the north is a small neighborhood. The cemetery is on flat ground. There are several paths, and a few large trees, but general it a rather plain but pleasant space. It is easy to walk and view the stones.

Location of cemetery: Located 6 miles west of downtown Ipswich, in the Linebrook Parrish section of Ipswich, near the Old Linebrook Cemetery and the Lesslie Road Cemetery. Take Linebrook Road for about 6 miles total, crossing Route 1 North, (at Cumberland Farms Store). Go 1/2 mile (pass the old Church which is on your right) and cemetery is directly after you pass Randall Road on your right. Parking is not easy here, since the narrow country road turns a bit. You can go a few yards past the cemetery and turn right onto Lillian Drive and park safely.

From points South: Take Rt 1 North and go left onto Linebrook Road (at Cumberland Farms Store). Go 1/2 mile (pass the old Church which is on your right) and cemetery is directly after you pass Randall Road on your right. Parking is not easy here, since the narrow country road turns a bit. You can go a few yards past the cemetery and turn right onto Lillian Drive and park safely.

Explanation of terms in burial records, below: Entries are alphabetical. The notation of MAP refers to coordinates on a hand-drawn map that I made of the location of the stones within the cemetery; it is a small cemetery and it is relatively easy to find the stones without a map. GRID refers to the conventional grid system that was used by many, including the WPA, to map the cemeteries. The lowest letters are to the left (south) as you face the cemetery from the street. The lowest numbers are closest to the street. “Inscription 2003 field observations” were detailed by reading and recording each stone, and “WPA records from 1930” were taken from Works Progress Administration (WPA) typed 3×5 index cards, originally prepared in 1935. (These WPA records are not yet included in this list. When included: in some cases these WPA entries have dropped a word or two, due to software errors.

Sources and limitations of data: Field observations were completed in 2004, including footstones. The 2004 field observations were made me, Bruce Laing, and I checked them against the WPA records from 1935, adding that information to fill in the blanks. These records include all readable stones from 2004 and all the WPA records from 1935. Occasionally stones are found and last names are unknown, in which case the other information on the stone is not included in this listing. (As noted above, in some cases, a few words of the WPA inscriptions were dropped from these records when I translated the data from Microsoft Access into
Other errors, inaccuracies, and omissions may exist. These records have not been checked against the Vital Records kept by the town, which are not sorted by cemetery in any event, but are another good source of data, along with other archives of family genealogies you can investigate by contacting people at these other links.
